By car

Use Google Maps to determine and download the directions from your departure location.

When arriving at the “Oktrooiplein”, the Quantum Building is the building at your right. It is best to drive up the roundabout to the right, and keep follow left to actually drive around the roundabout, in order to be able to use the parking at the station.

You may park in the public parking “Gent-Dampoort” right across the “Oktrooiplein”: <http://www.b-parking.be/info/nl/mycarpark/181-gent-dampoort?start=1>. Next, you walk into the building.

Attention!

Starting from April 1, the new mobility plan will start in Ghent, making the center different and less accessible. Please take into account extra traffic around Ghent.

By public transport

By train

Taking the train is a very convenient option. From the station “Gent-Dampoort”, you have to walk 2 minutes in order to arrive at our offices. Moreover, you won’t have to take into account parking and / or traffic issues.
